

This week we are looking at this story – already we are building up a bank of words to describe feelings of worry and have learned that by sharing our worries we are able to deal with them in a better way.

Last week we looked at this story

We wrote a series of letters to ask for a pet and at the same time we discussed different ways of looking after pets. The children were bought a class goldfish as a reward for their brilliant writing and contributions to class discussions.

We looked at this book for a couple of weeks and discussed how pollution can harm the planet and how important each sea creature is . We also have an amazing book that we refer to which gives us loads of amazing facts about sea creatures.
